Mr. Thapaliya, mentioned that local governments can exercise executive, legislative and judicial power in line with the Constitution and informed that Government of Nepal has approved functional unbundling report which provides strong basis to initiate devolution of functions, functionaries and fund to local governments. The GoN will transfer substantial financial resources to local governments as per the spirit of Constitution, however the challenge is to operationalize and institutionalize the rights and functions of local governments with by establishing transparent upward and downward accountable system. He raised concern on institutionalizing devolved functions and establishing a robust system that can deliver services and achieve results at local level. He noted that to strengthen accountability system MoFALD would establish performance contract mechanism between local leaders and sectorial functions. NPC, MoF, MoFALD, and MoGA are planning to develop a document jointly that will clarify the resources flow, personnel management and other aspects.

Mr. Thapaliya, expressed happiness on participation of people in the first phase of local election and political devolution. Political devolution has brought big expectation with the newly elected representative. Hence, the challenge for local government is to confront on meeting the expectations of local people and addressing capacity gaps. Local governments are responsible for cross-cutting issues like CFLG, EFLG, GESI and localizing SDG and scenarios shows there is lot of hand holding at local government level and thus there is a need of Development Partners support towards strengthening the cross-cutting agenda at local level

Mr. Thapaliya pointed out that LGCDP-II is successfully completing 4 years in the field of social mobilization, downward accountability, capacity building and public finance management fulfilling the vacuum where there was no elected representative in local bodies. He noted that the programme has managed to achieve great strides and equally overwhelmed with number of Dalits women and marginalized representative elected to public office.

Similarly, Secretary highlighted the Extension of LGCDP II - Transition to Sub-National Governance Programme has been designed with three major components: support to implement federalism: Institutional support to sub-national governments; capacity development of Sub-national governments; ICT in sub-national governments and public Financial Management support with total budget of US$ 18.1 million for the next fiscal year. Likewise, he also mentioned continuity of present social mobilization up to 4 months and provision of funds for social mobilization on demand by rural municipalities.

Finally, on behalf of the Government of Nepal, the chair expressed gratitude and welcomed development partners for their coordinated support to build a stronger and democratic Nepal, which will ensure no one left behind.

Opening Remarks by H.E. Jorg Freiden, Ambassador, Embassy of Switzerland in Nepal, DP - Chair.

H.E Mr. Jorg Freiden, congratulated MoFALD for conducting the extraordinary NAC meeting. He expressed his enthusiasm on Nepal conducting local election peacefully. He highlighted that the LGCDP program innovation such as social mobilization would be extremely useful in the new phase.

Likewise, H.E Mr. Jorg expressed enthusiasm to work with local level representative and shared that in the changed context, transition program should respect the local autonomy of local elected representatives and support on their roles and responsibilities. In addition, he appreciated the achievement of MoFALD on social inclusion area and expressed DP's optimism to maintain social mobilization until the political institution start to work. He mentioned that DPs would commit to support on empowering the local elected representative who will take the political charges.

Moving forward, H.E. Jorg raised concern to work in the spirit of constitution in regards to social inclusion in transition phase. He further said that substantial amount will be directly transferred in local level for designing and implementation of the program. Public Financial Management should be the priority. Therefore, there is a need of government approach to address the priority as larger share is spent in local level, accountability should be checked with the sense of ability. Similarly, he raised concern on addressing the issues of financial arrears and noted that accountability should be maintained well for further support in future programme. It is therefore requested to conduct internal audit and settle all the audit arrears within next couple of months.

Finally, H.E. Jorg acknowledged the achievement of LGCDP, reiterated the commitment to support on extension of LGCDP-II -Transition to Sub-National Governance Programme in building strong local governance.

NAVIN: Representative from the NAVIN congratulated programme management for comprehensive presentation on Transition to Sub National Governance Programme and expressed positivism on expected outcome of SNGP being relevant to local governance avenue. In designing Sub National Governance Program, assessment of local level needs after local administration in action would be important. In addition, adoption of Local Government Association (LGAs) role in transition phase could be considered for strengthening local governance as LGA could be agency to revise the policy in capacity building purpose.

ADDCN : Representative from the ADDCN mentioned that Local Governance and Community Development Programme's objective is to support the local governments, thus revision of support to federalism component as support to implement sub- national governance administration in federal context would be more relevant in the changed context.

UNICEF: Representative from the UNICEF mentioned that capacity building of newly elected representative would be for three days' orientation from June. Initial orientation will focus on process, plan, budget, roles and responsibility of local representative. Putting further what could be plan or idea, beyond the mechanism process on issues like education, health, gender equity and inclusion? Over the period, what kind of interaction between LGCDP and agencies will be there in regards to capacity building?

EU: Representative from EU mentioned that the total budget for the programme is US$ 18.1 million out of which government contribution is US$ 2.1 million, DPs contribution in JFA is US$ 13.5 million and DPs contribution in Technical Assistance US$2.5 million. The representative made an query to know on status of all mentioned funds being secured or programme is looking for additional fund for its management.

Fiduciary risk management is one a major concern of the program. Norway request the government to prioritize this at a high level, and provide a clearer management response and more regular and elaborate updates on the audit arrears issue. Mr. Reshmi Raj Pandey mentioned that LGCDP has not forgot the role of Local Government Associations (LGA) and assured to work with Associations in future program as well. In regards to the contribution made by LGA, Mr. Pandey appreciated LGAs for playing important role at the time when there was no local level elected representative.

Regarding the fund for the transition phase management, Mr. Pandey mentioned that JFA -DPs have committed the fund in response to resource demand. However, many issues may come during the implementation of TSNBP in such a situation additional funds from DPs will be welcomed. Moving forward, Mr. Pandey noted that fiduciary risk is the major concern and MoFALD is serious on fiduciary risk reduction issues. Mr. Gautam noted that LGCDP-II transition phase should learn lesson from earlier phase in terms of audit irregularities and ensure accountability. There are some issues with audit and in country program action plan of UNDP has clearly mentioned that the audit of UNDP should be led by OAG and should be supported by private sector. H reiterated that the Public Financial Statement of LGCDP should come to OAG in timely manner with complete cumulative statement for the certification statement and MoFALD should work for resolving audit arrears issue as soon as possible.

Remarks by Ms. Vallerie Julliand, Resident Coordinator, UN.

Ms. Vallerie Julliand expressed her happiness on attending the NAC meeting for the first time. She appreciated the efforts of LGCDP for leading this platform.

She noted that local level election is the first step to enter into federal system and this is moment of victory. She congratulated Nepal for this moment. Similarly, she emphasized inclusion is not only the provision of constitution, but also representation of Dalit people and women in the electoral process. In the same manner, inclusion is also chance for the people get to vote in local election through which there will be possibility for local people to be heard through local government. She insisted that local governance mechanism as golden opportunity to localize Sustainable Development Goal (SDG) and suggested LGCDP team, to consider SDG during the transition phase and its other elaboration as it will be plus point to achieve its outcome.

She noted that social mobilization is crucial, it is the way to bring about the changes, through the social mobilization participation of diversity and have recognized this diversity during local election. Now important is to empower this people, otherwise will make no sense even with going local election. In nutshell, the crucial point is to empower, help and give knowledge to elected representative so that they can fully play the role they have been assigned. UN acknowledge LGCDP for initiating this activity and has positivism that UN can support local governance through its diversity role and UN is honored to support for the solid diversified inclusion.

Remarks by Ms. Gail Marzetti, Head of DFID Nepal, DP Co-chair

DP Co- chair expressed thanks for the kind token of appreciation and said she is very pleased to sharing the platform on the topic of local governance.

She shared that Nepal is going through historical moment and it is very exciting as well as stressful time as local election and federal decentralization becomes reality. In approving LGCDP-II transition phase it is important for LGCDP to look back for its impact in local level. In this scenario, it is seen this year 4.3 household have benefited from more than 75000 small scale infrastructure projects and about more than 4000 social mobilizers have provided link between people and local government in past years when there was no local representative. Therefore, observing this impact, in long term LGCDP legacy will set new standards in public participation in governance and this is significant achievement for LGCDP.

In addition, the other achievement of LGCDP is to have its former members of CAC to stand up as candidate in local election and their confidence to stand for themselves. This level of empowerment in women was also seen during the time of field visit.

Similarly, looking forward to support the governance, LGCDP should not change its mindset to stand as server for the new 700 clients who will be representation local people for implementation of local governance. She noted it is important for LGCDP to be flexible as there is no clear picture on how local governance will work. At the same time, she shared that for LGCDP this is also time to develop the concept on sub national governance.

Finally, she wished for the success of LGCDP and stressed that there is plenty of room to work in the field of local governance. For its effective implementation, there is need of coordination from all the agencies.

Closing remarks by Mr. Dinesh Kumar Thapaliya, Secretary MoFALD and NAC chair.

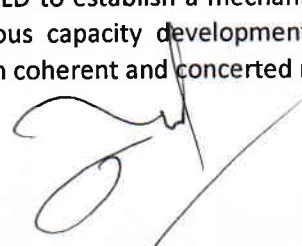

Mr. Dinesh Kumar Thapaliya expressed gratitude and thanked distinguished participants for their valuable time and deliberations. Mr. Thapaliya assured that all suggestions and decisions delivered in the meeting will be considered positively.
